Victory More and More Certain.

From the States that have been debatable the news comes that cheers our hearts. Victory hovers over us. "UNCLE SAM" is the name to which the nation clings, and "UNCLE SAM" will be the chosen man to deliver the people out of the wilderness of trouble, discord, and misery. The "shout" of those who march to victory has already thrilled the nation. It has shocked the Radicals and turned their thoughts upon their enormities and crimes. So are the reflections of all dying men occupied with their sins.

New York and Indiana are both certain for TILDEN, and these render his election sure. We have the "shout" that there is no mistaking—the shout triumphant. It causes quaking amongst the Radicals, who show that they are terrified by the desperation of their acts. They furiously fight, but their tactics are indicative of the fear that excites recklessness. They revamp old lies and flaunt the "bloody shirt" with the wilderness of the maniac. But this only shows their weakness in sight of the battlefield, while the Conservatives and Democrats are gathering strength daily. The war of words will conclude with a grand victory for the people on to-morrow week.

So the prospect is brilliant. So bright a day should stimulate every man who loves his country and who loves liberty and equality. Not a Conservative nor a Democrat in the land but should determine to be in the fight of the first Tuesday in November, and to cast his vote on that day for the Constitution, for impartial administration and public liberty. It should be a pride to any man in after times to say that he cast his vote thus on a day of greatest peril ever known to the nation.

Then let all be ready—all registered and prepared for the greatest political contest ever known to the nation. If every Democrat is so ready, and so discharges his public duty—if every Liberal and Conservative does the same thing—we are certain of the liberation of the country from misrule and the people from misery. Then real peace will dawn upon us, and we can all proceed earnestly and industriously, and without apprehension, to repair our fortunes and to restore order and contentment. Sweet will they be to a tried and long-disappointed people. Weary and worn, broken down with watching, and almost exhausted with hoping against hope, they will find such rest as few people ever knew from the change that will come when the Radicals are overthrown and the Government be placed in the hands of able, honest, and patriotic men.

The Philadelphia Press—The Centennial.

Philadelphia displayed a zeal in behalf of the Centennial exhibition in that city that was very energetic and that assumed the form of patriotism, of devotion to the liberty and independence that the declaration of our ancestors of '76 asserted as their right, which right they won and afterwards bequeathed to us, their descendants. More than this, the appeals that were made to Congress put forth as a great argument for the Centennial the idea that it would become a Mecca to which all lovers of liberty would make a pilgrimage, and where the representatives of the different sections of the Union might meet and offer up their disorders and rancors upon the altar of their country, and renew their mutual feelings of harmony and public devotion.

How have these promises been kept? We have seen no indication that they have been kept at all. No day since the opening of the Centennial could a southern man pick up any of the Philadelphia papers save the Times, the Evening Telegraph, and the Ledger, without being insulted. No other city surpasses Philadelphia in the bitterness of her press. With throngs of southern people daily swelling the Centennial crowds, the American, the Press, the Inquirer, and Bulletin have not ceased to team with slanders of the South, and with justification of the system of espionage, military intimidation, and summary arrests and detentions of her peaceful citizens. Nor have they allowed the fires of vindictiveness to grow dim. They have fanned the flames of prejudice and hate with uncommon industry, and in spirit and fact regarded the South as still a proper object of oppression and restraint, even through military force.

This has been not only annoying to southern people who contributed by their presence and with their means to the objects of the authors of the Centennial show, whether it were patriotism or pecuniary profit, but it has been infringing instead of maintaining the kindly relations between the people which was avowed to be a principal object of the Centennial.

It was but the press indeed; but who supports the press? There comes the rub. If the Centennial benefits Philadelphia, it is not graceful in Philadelphia, through the press, to make the generous guests who come to join in her celebration feel as though they were within the gates of enemies. It must be understood that the assaults upon the South, through the Philadelphia press especially, look to her continued oppression and injury from partial legislation as though she was not entitled to equality under the Constitution, but was only a subjugated country.

We have felt this sorely, because we see daily all the Philadelphia papers, and can with truth say that if the daily press of any city in the Union excels in unreasonable and invidious manifestations towards the South it is the press of Philadelphia. To what extent the press involves the people we know not, but it looks very badly.

We heartily except the Times, the Evening Telegraph, and the Ledger from this sensitive allusion to what we consider very unwell and entirely at war with the programme set forth by the Philadelphians who projected the Centennial. Furthermore, it all shows that the authors of these unjust things towards the South are profoundly ignorant of the principles of our fathers of '76 and the nature of the liberty purchased with their blood and handed down to their descendants of the present day.

GOVERNOR TILDEN ON THE SOUTHERN WAR CLAIMS.—The letter of Samuel J. Tilden, which we print this morning, is a confession on the face of the serious purpose of the southern Democracy to press their claims against the Government for losses growing out of their own folly in attempting to break up the Union by force of arms, and substantial testimony to the disastrous effects of the scheme upon Mr. Tilden's character for the next Presidency.—Cincinnati Commercial Advertiser.

The malignity of the Commercial stimulates its reason, and it simply declares its purpose to adhere to a living imputation in asserting that Tilden's letter is a confession of what it positively does not confess at all. We only quote the sentence from the Commercial to let our readers under-

North Carolina.

We have seen intelligent gentlemen from various sections of the North State, and they give the very best news. We have no more doubt of North Carolina than we have of Virginia.

The Champion Demonstration.

The immense TILDEN and HENNESSY parade in New York city on Thursday night was the greatest political procession that ever took place in the Union. It had the impulse and force of confidence, and enthusiasm of triumph. Governor TILDEN took position at the Everett House, and from the porch of that house viewed the legions of voters who were resolved to free the land from the tyranny of Radicalsism. It is reported that the line of march was more than six hours in passing a given point. Such an array of multitudes with banners and lights was never before looked upon in the streets of the great metropolis.

The World, speaking of this immense pageant, says:

"If it be permitted to augur political results from a political pageant, then New York will give a majority for Tilden and Reform such as she has never before cast in any cause or for any candidate, for such a moment standing never before took place of this continent. Fifty thousand of the rank and file of the Democracy moved proudly before their chief, and since the armies of the Union were disbanded after their last triumphal parade, no other leader has looked down upon such a body of men. To the whole Union we say, the metropolis of the nation leads the way to victory."

Exactly! It could not be possible to make so great a demonstration of popular feeling in any but a cause that was soon to be crowned with victory.

President Grant's Impudence.

And now GRANT comes out with his thanksgiving proclamation, after having done what he could to diminish the peace and prosperity of the land. It is well that there is a Providence over us all which he cannot himself overrule or he would very soon diminish the beneficence from that source. It is a sort of hideous railing of the nation for a man who has done so much to make all miserable to call upon it to thank Almighty God for the special blessings he has vouchsafed to us. In humbly thanking the Divine source of all beneficence we do not by corollary bless the part stupid and malicious author of our greatest sorrows. The people cannot give up their right to damn the source of all evil while piously grateful to the source of all good.

Ohio River Railroad.

We copy the following "local" statement from the Cincinnati Commercial of the 25th of October. We do not understand it exactly, and would be obliged to get an explanation of it from anybody who can give it. The item is so indefinite that we only make out from the name of Virginia in the corporation that the road must run from Cincinnati up the river Ohio. That would be, of course, in the line of the improvement towards this city, and Richmond, we therefore suppose, has a vital interest in it. There are so many Richmonds that we could not infer from the appearance of that name in the statement that our own city was meant; and as the Chesapeake and Ohio road is finished to the Ohio river, when the disposition of Richmond to finish the work from "Nine-Mile" is mentioned it leads us into uncertainty. The matter is interesting to our people, and we should be glad to have the vague paragraph of the Cincinnati paper made clear:

THE OHIO RIVER RAILROAD.—At the opening of the Ohio River navigation for the season of 1867, the Cincinnati, Ohio River and Virginia Railroad, at the office of Joseph Kinsey & Co., the sum of $20,000 was subscribed, and it was shown that the people of Cincinnati would build the road as far as California, and from there it was confidently predicted that the people above would build as far as the Gulf of Mexico, and from the feeling that has been manifested by the people of Richmond, it is expected they will furnish the means to complete the "Ohio River" from Nine-Mile as far as their city. Experienced and competent railroad builders were present, and submitted a plan for the road, showing the entire length of the road. This subject was referred to a committee of the Board of Incorporators—viz.: Hon. G. W. C. Johnston, Hon. B. Eggleston, W. W. Sutton, Colonel R. M. Moore, Joseph Kinsey, and J. U. Hammond, to set upon and report. The success of the enterprise, if a corresponding feeling is met with along the line of the road.

The Centennial Committee of Awards of Premiums seemed to have cast forth their awards in a bundle, we had supposed, to gratify every one and get rid of trouble. But that was the sure way to excite general discontent. So, reasonably enough, there are many cases brought to the Committee of Appeal, and now they are said to be "doctoring" and altering awards already made. Logical sequence to the sordidness at the bottom of the "great show."

A Long Time Ago. A Novel, By META ORRÉD, NEW YORK: HARPER & BROTHERS.

We have copies of this new novel from C. F. JOHNSTON and J. T. ELLYSON, who have it for sale. HARPER make it 469 of their Library of Select Novels. The author's peculiar name is as novel as the work itself.

The Cotton-Tax.

To the Editors of the Dispatch:

In support of a position taken in a letter written by myself to Mr. Lyons, and published in the Dispatch of to-day, you will oblige if you will publish the following section of the Proclamation of the President, and the DRAWBACK of the internal-revenue tax paid on the raw cotton to the manufacturers (who were in the main New England men), by which it will be seen that the war tax on raw cotton, levied for the purpose, as stated at the time that Charles Sumner and others, as the abolitionists of the bottom States, for the so-called rebellion, was in considerable part transferred from the hands of the impoverished people of the South, white and black, into the Treasury of the United States, only to be diverted to New England spinners under the guise of this drawback law, South-Carolina, in her poverty and distress, alone being required to pay for the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1866, $1,429,281.10; for the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1867, $2,011,199.35:

"Be it enacted by the Congress of the United States, That upon articles manufactured and exported from the States then so called rebels, there shall be allowed as a drawback as nearly cents per pound upon the pound of cotton cloth, yarn, thread, or knit fabrics manufactured exclusively from cotton and exported as shall have been assessed and paid in the form of an internal-revenue tax upon the raw cotton entering into the manufacture of said cloth or other article; the amount of such allowance or drawback to be ascertained in such manner as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury."

That, Mr. Lyons, by the Hon. James G. Blaine, Murat Halstead, the New York Times, and the National Republican, who have stated the presidential issue on this

Whereas we, the Citizens of Caroline county, are to-day officially informed that our representative in the Forty-fourth, and candidate for a seat in the Forty-fifth, Congress, the Hon. Gilbert C. Walker, is invited by the National Democratic Committee to labor in a distant field; and whereas his acceptance of said invitation will deprive us of the pleasure of seeing and hearing our honorable representative—a pleasure greatly desired by his constituents—

1. Resolved, That with grateful pride we sacrifice our pleasure, and the honor the Hon. C. Walker, for our country's good.

2. Resolved, That his, declining to be the people of this district, his election is confidence in them by no means misplaced, and we pledge our earnest efforts to make his election doubly sure.

3. Resolved, That we tender him our warmest sympathies and our hearty approval of his patriotic and patriotic labors.

4. Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the Hon. G. C. Walker and to the Richmond and Fredericksburg papers for publication.

JOHN WASHINGTON, Chairman.
R. O. Peatross, Secretary.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING BROKEN UP.
We had a telegram about the interruption of the Democratic meeting at Beaufort, S. C., but the affair is worthy of a more detailed notice. Such an interruption of a Radical meeting by Democrats would have filled the local jails with Democrats; and this country is called a republic! The meeting was held on Thursday, and the account is dated that day at Beaufort:

General Hampton and several speakers, unaccompanied by any escort, arrived here last night, and were announced to speak to-day. His reception by the negroes at Beaufort, Branch, was a surprise, yesterday, was a great surprise to the Republicans here, and when they learned that nearly every negro at the meeting yesterday had declared himself undeceived and his intention to vote for Hampton, they determined to prevent a similar catastrophe here to-day if possible, especially as the Republican meeting held here last Saturday at which Cardozo, Governor, Congressman Smalls, and other leaders spoke, was a failure, less than thirty negroes attending. In accordance with the determination, opposition meetings were attempted to be held to-day at all points outside the town. The Hon. Lieutenants Governor, Gleaves, and others busied themselves this morning guarding the streets and forbidding their followers coming to the Democratic meeting. Others, and particularly one J. M. Crowfoot, a white carpet-bagger, openly declared his intention to prevent Judge Cooke, Republican, from speaking or to break up the meeting.

Despite all these efforts, however, the club 400 negroes assembled at Beaufort, the club house, and the meeting opened, and they heard General Hampton in respectful silence with but few interruptions. Colonel Youmans followed, and in the course of his remarks quoted Chamberlain, Elliott, Dunn, and Cardozo's evidence as to the bad character of each other, and the disorder once began under the auspices of the club house, and the speaker who was convicted of stuffing ballot-boxes a few years ago, and imprisoned for two years, but pardoned by President Grant at the expiration of one and is now auditor of this county.

FORCED TO RETIRE.
After a half-hour's futile endeavor to secure order and silence Youmans retired from the stage without completing his speech.

Judge Cooke was then introduced as a Republican, but Langley industriously whispered about among the negroes that he was a traitor and a traitor and gave orders to prevent him from making himself heard. Cooke still endeavored to speak, but was not allowed to do so. As the negroes were increasing in their yells he also retired, after some time, without having uttered one audible sentence. He was, as he is known to, have been chiefly instrumental in converting the negroes in all other counties to Hampton, and were loud in their insults and cries.

Colonel J. G. Gibbs next attempted to speak, and succeeded somewhat better. He spoke for some time, and then they with him, but was also cried down whenever he attempted to say a word against the Republican candidates.

THE MEETING ABANDONED.
He, too, was finally compelled to hush, and then General Hampton came forward and declared that the meeting was dissolved in consequence of the riot. The authorities and policemen who were present either dispersed the crowd, or were so intimidated that the remaining speakers declined to face the storm of insults and yells to no purpose. General Hampton kindly bade the negroes farewell, with good wishes for their welfare, and told them, in conclusion, that they had done more to elect him to-day than had been by the white people of any other county in the State.

NAVY OFFICERS PRESENT.
He informed them of the fact, of which they had been kept up to that time in ignorance, that a party of eight or ten officers of the fleet at Port Royal had been present throughout the meeting in citizens' dress, and that they had themselves witnessed the whole disgraceful scene unobserved, and expressed their regret that they had not had seen, and would be called upon to give their testimony on the lawless conduct of the crowd. The mob then dispersed, the negroes being evidently startled at the turn affairs had taken, as to this, however, they firmly believed there was not a soldier or an officer nearer than the fleet, twelve miles down the harbor.

GENERAL HAMPTON'S APPEAL.
In view of the conduct of the negroes to-day, and in accordance with repeated representations made to him by the necessity of sending troops to Hampton, telegraphed General Ruger this evening a request to send one or more companies of troops to this county at once for the purpose of protecting colored Democrats, who are threatened hourly.

NOTICEABLE FACTS.
The following points are worthy of notice—

1. This was a Democratic meeting, to which no white persons were invited, and no Republican speaker who desired to do so was requested to speak. Even Langley was pressed to take the stand and say truly what he wished. He refused to do so.

2. The speakers were wholly without escort, not a single man being with them, except the few of the town, was present, and these contributed but a small proportion of the audience.

3. Lieutenant-Governor Gleaves was present in the town; Sammy Greer, senator from this county, and Sheriff Wilson were on the spot, yet not one of them made the slightest effort to stir up the mob by their words. All these facts can be substantiated by the eight United States naval officers who were present in the house and saw all that occurred.

The Northern Men in Charleston.
The address of northern merchants resident in Charleston is a very strong paper. After endorsing the views recently expressed by clergy and capitalists, the address says:

"A acute sense of the injustice and injury to the South by the action of the North by those whose official positions should make them foremost in defending the fair fame and guarding the interests of the State requires us, as citizens of northern birth, engaged in active business in South Carolina, to do our part in undeceiving those who are misled. We were born and we whom we are addressing are of the same blood and affection. As individuals we have been beloved, and even now belong, character of the political associations, came only a few months ago the declaration that our State needed reform in nearly every department of the public service, and matters which have for years to come as they have for the past six years; that reform, if it is not of itself right, has become absolutely necessary, or the State will sink.

"Acting upon his declaration and our own painful knowledge we find ourselves, whatever our former differences, ranged on the same side for the cause. The cause, however, is not for his exclusive objects known to him, but for the government of the State, and we cannot abandon the cause any more when its exponent is General Hampton than we did a year or more ago when its spokesman was Governor Chamberlain.

"I ask you, fellow-citizens of the northern States, to put yourselves in our places and to judge us as you wish to be judged. All we strive for is the purity, the justice, and the economy in the administration of public affairs that come to you, whatever party rules, without special effort. We can only offend in the vigor and earnestness with which the cause is managed. We ask how you feel and act if when you were engaged in a similar struggle the strong arm of the State and Federal Governments were raised to strike you down and demand you to subjection, to ignorance, and vice?

"Resolve this question honestly and fairly, translate your thoughts into action, and ask how you feel free us from tyranny and oppression; but will, by stamping with the seal of your condemnation what else may become a dangerous precedent, give new security to your liberties and that of our common country?"

The signers are from New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New Hampshire, Vermont, and Maine.

Political Taxation.

A Maryland Department clerk, who has paid up the assessments levied by Secretary Chandler for the use of the National Republican Central Committee, was somewhat disgusted at receiving the following a few days since:

Headquarters Maryland Republican State Central Committee, 128 West Maryland street, Baltimore, October 16, 1876.—Sir, I am directed by the Finance Committee of the Maryland Republican State Central Committee to request of you a contribution of twenty-four dollars to aid in defraying the necessary expenses of the campaign. Please let me hear from you on or before October 20, 1876. Please send city draft, postal order, or registered letter, and oblige, yours respectfully, GEORGE M. McCOMAS, Treasurer.

No response to our last. Answer this a once.

BOSS SHEPHERD'S CONTRIBUTION.

Before Secretary Chandler went to New York Governor Shepherd handed him his check for $10,000 as a contribution to the Republican campaign fund, with the proviso that $5,000 of it should be sent to South Carolina.—Washington Correspondence of the Baltimore Sun.

DEMOCRATS IN BALTIMORE.—There was great demonstration in Baltimore Friday night at the Maryland Institute. Speeches were made by Governor Carroll; Senator Bayard, R. T. Merrick, and others. We see that Colonel E. C. Carrington, formerly of this State, was amongst the speakers. He is reported as saying:

"When the Union was in danger he, with a younger brother, had enlisted in the Union army, and his brother had given him life for the cause. He would fight again against a foreign foe, but murder his brothers there never. When the Republicans invaded a sister State in time of peace, and used the military force of the nation, to prevent and punish fraud, he could not differ. He delivered an eloquent address, interspersed with humor, and called on all to support Tilden, Hendricks, and Reform." [Cheers.]

THE CRY OF FRAUD IN NEW YORK.—The cry of fraudulent registration in New York, raised by Republican journals, is thus noticed by the New York Journal of Commerce: "The two parties are represented by veteran politicians who know all the voters, and they keep a check on each other. The Federal supervisor stands for the United States, and has unlimited authority to prevent and punish fraud. The police are on hand to use their clubs if necessary. The whole power of the nation, the State and the city, may be said to be available for the detection and prevention and punishment of false registering and voting. Unless the men having charge of the business are dishonest and dishonest which has not been alleged against them—we hold that it is impossible that the extensive frauds alleged can have been practiced at the registry offices."

OHIO—THE OFFICIAL VOTE FOR CONGRESSMEN.—Total vote for congressmen, 629,259 Republican, 314,540; anti-Grant, 814,719 Democratic majority, 179.—Chicago Times.

A gentleman about seven feet high borrowed a book from this office yesterday with a promise to return it in "ten minutes." If he forfeits his promise, said a bystander, won't that be "high treason?" Respectfully referred to the Petersburg Index.—Dispatch.

the liabilities asserted by said decrees as follows, to-wit:
1st. An account of the assets, real and personal,
of Ellis Phaup, deceased, and the value thereof.
2d. An account of the transactions of R. L. Phaup, as late administrator of Ellis Phaup, deceased.
3d. An account of the estate of Ellis Phaup, deceased, both real and personal, which went into the hands of the said George W. Phaup, and Wm. A.
Phaup as legatees, devisees, or heirs at law of the deceased, and the value thereof.
4th. An account of the outstanding debts against the estate of the said Ellis Phaup, deceased, their liabilities and priority, and the value of what is due to the plaintiff on the liability bond mentioned in the bill and proceeding in this cause.
